The Heritage of Coffee

Coffee's journey began in Ethiopia, where legend tells of a goatherder named Kaldi who noticed his goats dancing with energy after eating red berries from a mysterious tree.

Curious, monks at a nearby monastery brewed the berries and found the drink helped them stay alert through evening prayers.

From those humble beginnings, coffee spread across the Arabian Peninsula by the 15th century and reached the UK in the 1600s—quite a journey for a humble bean!

Today, we're celebrating that rich history with our new barista machines, serving every cup as fresh and full of flavour as Kaldi's first discovery.
